Explore the wild coasts of Portugal and sail into the Atlantic sunset with Classic Driver and the Jaeger-LeCoultre Polaris Date, the ocean exploration watch...

To the end of the world

Well-traveled adventurers and explorers know that if you want to truly experience a country, you have to follow the locals. So when we started planning a summer trip to Portugal with Jaeger-LeCoultre's amazing new Polaris Date, which was inspired by the iconic 1968 Memovox Polaris, we just called our friends from Cool & Vintage in Lisbon for some advice. Some weeks later, we were exploring the wild Portuguese coastline in one of their custom Land Rover Defenders with gentleman surfer and travel writer Francisco Cipriano, before setting sail on a catamaran from Our Sea Yachts and gliding off into the sunset. And when it comes to summer adventures, what could be better than to explore the end of the old world in style with some friends and the ultimate exploration watch on your wrist?
