Est. 140 hp, 898 cc three-cylinder engine.

The English-designed Benelli Novocento Tre was available in three models. The RS is the middle range, about 20 pounds lighter than the Tre, and with about 140 hp, Ohlins suspension and Brembo brakes, they are very well equipped. Note the distinctive exhaust fan outlets at the rear, from the under-seat radiator. Prized for their looks and admired for their razor-sharp handling, late model Benellis are seldom seen and eminently collectible.

This stunning 900RS is finished in red and black paintwork and is offered in showroom condition with only limited delivery miles recorded on the odometer. This sporting Italian motorcycle will appeal to the discerning rider who appreciates both individuality and the attention garnered from those wonderful twin jet-style cooling fans.
