A total of 250 RS3100 Capri's were built, 249 during November 1973 at Halewood and the other car was built at South Ockendon before the others and would make up one of the 6 pre-production cars built for use in the studio shots which in turn were used on the single sheet sales brochure and the Supplementary Handbook, the latter being supplied with all production cars. The RS3100 was based on the basic 3000GT, there were no optional extras. The only small differences between the cars were that some had red needles on the dashboard and others white. Some had imitation leather gear knobs others had plastic and some were fitted with inertia safety belts although most had static. Mechanic
