The 930 was a sports car built by Porsche, 930 actually being the "type number" for the pre-964 generation 911 Turbo produced between 1975 and 1989. It was Porsche's top-of-the-range model for its entire production duration and at the time of its introduction the fastest production car available in Germany. Skilled drivers quickly learned how to drive the 930 properly, and with that knowledge came the ability to drive the car above and beyond the levels of most other sports cars. And so the Turbo's legendary status was cemented within the annals of automotive history.

There are but a handful of righthand drive examples available worldwide, with only single figures left in the UK. Lefthand drive cars are comfortably hitting €40,000 to €50,000 in Europe with righthand drive versions creeping up behind. The general condition of the soft top, interior and bodywork is r
