The ultimate development of the first series of David Brown-built Aston Martins, the DB MkIII occupies a special place in the marque's history. Beginning with the DB2, this family of cars would see the company progress from being a small specialist manufacturer to one of world renown, providing the basis for its many racing successes culminating in the World Sports Car Championship in 1959. With this heritage the DB Mk III's position in Aston Martin history is unique. Though the DB Mk III has always been highly valued by collectors and enthusiasts alike, in recent years demand for the model has risen significantly as its eligibility for prestigious historic motoring events - the Tour Auto, Mille Miglia, and Goodwood Rev
