The Triumph TR7 was launched in 1975 as the successor to the TR6 and to continue the TR blood line. When the TR7 was introduced it was only available as a fixed head coupe. It was not until 1979, with the long awaited arrival of the convertible, that there was more than one body style to choose from.

This low mileage TR 7 Roadster has covered a mere 60,000 km from new and as such is being described by the vendor as in excellent condition throughout. Only two careful owners have pampered this last model of the successful TR series. Finished in silver with blue interior the car will provide classic open motoring in the coming months
