The Model: A new iteration of the 911 hit the streets in 1989 under the internal name 964. With a renewed dedication to design, the 996 offered drivers several advancements. Suspension benefited for the first time from coil springs and brakes would be aided by ABS. An all-wheel-drive model would be offered for the first time as well. The Tiptronic transmission became available for the first time in the 964, and while met with mixed reviews by purest, has become the gear shifting choice of some of the most track focused drivers.

The Car: The red paint that covers this 911 is clean and smooth with only one small scratch in the rear bumper. The red paint is accented perfectly by the deep black top that remains clean and serviceable, and moves up and down automatically. The speed activated spoiler still lifts into place to help keep the car's feet on the ground or it can be bumped up at a stand still for a more sporty look. The cockpit is typically porsche. The minimalist interior is is elegant in a driver's eye. The black leather shows very little use and will serve a new pilot well. The well-organized, easy-to-read gauges dominate the dash, making management easy in race traffic or commuter traffic. If you happen to be in stop and go traffic, you will appreciate the Tiptronic transmission, or take on shifting duties yourself on the track. The power from the air-cooled flat-six get this 911 to a gallup at the first request and produces an exhaust note that cannot be mistaken. This is a great opportunity to grab a new classic and let the market come to you. Raise your hand and watch your investment grow.
