The Porsche passion lives more than ever before, even long after the 50th birthday of the 911! After the launch in 1964 the 911 received something new every year till the end of the so called F-modell in '73. The engine capacity was raised to 2.4l and there were big improvements on the chassis. This year praised by all car enthusiasts because of the well balanced grip, steering feel, performance, brakes and quality. For many this is the last pure 911 !

In '73 this 2.4E was delivered exactly as it looks today: Sepia Brown paint over black leatherette. Now this 911 has all the much loved options like the beautiful Fuchs wheels, anti-roll bar and Recaro Sport Seats. It's a complete matching numbers car which was fully restored. New panels, paint, rubbers, mechanics, interior,... The car has more than 40.000€ in new parts alone!

This is your chance to own a brand new 911 2.4E; just like it was 1973!

The restoration comes with a lot of photos and of course the Porsche Certificate of Authenticity. The engine carries a lot of punch, together with the lovely handling makes this one of the best classic Porsches just waiting for its new owner!
