Beschreibung

Veloce Classic and Sports Cars LTD is pleased to offer this ultra low mileage (16.000km) LHD Aston Martin Vanquish 2002.

About the car

Sold new in Germany 2002 this one owner car has been part of a collection for many years. It must be today one of the most well maintained and pristine cars in the world with ultra low mileage and truly spotless. Full service history and low miles make this LHD Vanquish a true collectors item.

History

The Vanquish was well equipped no matter the client's wishes. The heart of the car is the smooth, high revving, all alloy 12-cylinder engine. Combined with state-of-the-art fuel injection, the car produces an astonishing amount of torque for its startling off-the-line performance. The breathtaking horsepower also made for exceptional top-speed performance. Power delivery was paramount, and consequently, the car was fitted with one of the world's first paddle-shifted six-speed gearboxes, adoringly nicknamed the "flappy paddle gearbox" by the presenters of the hit show Top Gear. The close ratio transmission works in concert with advanced electronics to match gear ratios and engine speeds.

Considered by many to be the last truly hand-built Aston Martin, the Vanquish stands out among modern supercars with its elegant yet aggressive Aston Martin styling. In addition, this particular car is presented in outstanding condition and has exceptional and documented provenance. The V-12 Vanquish has often been credited with the renaissance of this classic British brand. Traditional design cues, such as the signature grille opening, wide fenders, and a low hood line, make this the most striking and masculine Aston Martin, perhaps of all time.
