The Volkswagen Beetle is definitely the most characteristic car in automotive history. The main aims when the car was developed were that the car had to be affordable, practical, have multi purpose use and especially cheap and easy to maintain. Truly a real car for the “ common man”. Production started in 1938 and until 1967 Volkswagen officially named the various models as the Type 1, 1200 and 1300. As people referred to the car as the Beetle, Volkswagen later started to use this name. Our car was first registered in 1963. Since 2012 it has had a Dutch registration and has remained in the hands of the same owner ever since. This car is a real “survivor of time”. After the purchase in 2012 it became clear that this Beetle was basically so sound that it only needed partially restoring to bring her back to he former glory. Underneath the car is authentic and rust-free. During the restorative work the car was re-sprayed and still holds it fine lustre. The interior trim is original with the dashboard and headlining nicely maintained. This example enjoys to be driven and does that very well indeed. The invoices over the last 8 years show that good care and attention have been lavished on the Beetle. The engine and chassis are correct for the period and type. In short a wonderfully preserved Volkswagen Beetle, ready and waiting for the next classic season. Gallery Aaldering is Europe's leading Classic Cars specialist since 1975!
