For the past few months, Automobilst has been designing the motivation behind De Tomaso's new journey: Mission AAR. Mission AAR is a long-term, multi-stage, strategic initiative by De Tomaso to take America's automobile industry back to its glory days of automotive design and preeminence. It begins with a first step, a giant leap across oceans, with the brand moving its core operations to the US. Thereafter, setting their sights on igniting a new golden era of American automotive design and excellence by creating opportunity, cultivating talent and fostering bold collaborations.
