Designed for: Motorcycle

Finally, a women's leather motorcycle jacket that works on and off the bike. Or, if you don't ride, the Arrow is a flattering, sexy jacket that pairs easily with denim for an everyday, badass look. The ergonomic fit is constructed with extremely soft Napa cowhide with quilted detailing at the shoulders and arms. A drop-tail hem offers the perfect amount of coverage, while stretch panels at the sides allow for a customized fit and ease of movement when out for a long ride. Design details include zippered hand pockets, interior chest pockets, and zippers at the cuffs.

If you do plan on taking the Arrow for a ride, we have you covered when it comes to protective padding. We partnered with D3O®, the industry leader in shock-absorbing body armor. The newly formulated D3O® pads are lighter and 30 percent stronger and more malleable. They lock upon impact to absorb and dissipate energy. The Arrow comes with removable, CE-certified pads at the shoulder and back. Additionally, removable die-cut D3O® padding at the elbows offers light protection and a slim fit. Every woman's wardrobe calls for an awesome moto jacket, and this just may be the one you've been waiting for.

This style runs small. You may want to size up. In-studio model is 5'8" and wearing size small.
