Beschreibung

Singer Vehicle Design was founded in 2009 to both preserve and optimize the famed air-cooled Porsche 911. The 964 model Porsche became the perfect foundation for Singer's work possessing the ideal combination of classic air-cooled Porsche traits combined with a sophisticated footing in the vital areas of the vehicle's dynamics. Inspiration is taken from the classic road racing era of the Porsche during the 1970's and can be seen in almost every detail around the car including the 'Butzi Porsche-inspired bodywork.

This car was very much built to encapsulate the finer details of the best 911s whilst still incorporating a modern twist. Singer's colour offerings are inspired by countless years of inspiration throughout Porsche history. This example is finished in Dark Ivory, a variation of the Ivory offered on the 356 as early as 1951 and the 911 in the early 1970s. The car looks fantastic liveried as such, a modern twist on a period hue providing an elegant but historic colour scheme.

Satin nickel bumperettes and nickel trim contrast the black script with subtle toned side stripes; upfront, the bonnet features the important central fuel filler cap. The wheels echo the finish of the black and chrome in a matte finish.

This example is fitter with the later, revised 4.0 litre powerplant producing 400 hp. Thanks to extensive use of carbon fibre for the majority of the body, the Singer weighs nearly 200kg less than a donor 964 Carrera 2, tipping the scales at just 1100kg all in. This example features the upgraded 6-speed gearbox/

Inside this car benefits from tan leather racing seats with Singer's famed woven leather inserts; paired with brass grommets. Additionally, the woven tan leather is used for the dashboard inserts with the five-wide dial layout featuring the central rev counter in burnt orange. The upper and lower dash are finished in black.

The tan leather-wrapped roll bar sits behind, with tan leather extending to the rear seats. The central transmission tunnel and sills are also finished in Dark Ivory; a fantastic touch to bring the outside of the car to the inside. This example features the Track option front seats and uprated Ohlins dampers. Duo-black anodised wheel centres with white nickel wheel barrels cover the Racing Red brake callipers.

This fantastic RHD Singer presents with just 780 Miles since its reimagination having been used sparingly since completion. This example is currently available to view at our showrooms outside London immediately, accompanied by its Singer fitted luggage.
