The Agrati Company, which already produced frames, assembled mopeds for Garelli and had its own 'Capri' scooter in production since 1959, which used Garelli engines for some versions. After 1961, following Agrati's acquisition of Garelli, the Capri was produced in various displacements under the Garelli brand name. The Capri with a displacement of 80 cc is quite rare, an excellent opportunity not to be missed. Restored and since then presumably never used. A general mechanical check is recommended before use.
