Depancel returns with another attainably priced and decidedly summery iteration of their ever-popular Allure line. Featuring a fresh and colourful face, the Allure Mono Eye Mint Green is the watch to add to your collection this season!

We've been following French-born Depancel for a little while now, and despite the brand very much being the new kids on the timepiece block, they have well and truly made waves in the industry for their bold designs, attention to detail and accessible price tags. Now, they return with the ultimate summer accessory, the Allure Mono Eye Mint Green, which is now available to purchase in the CD Shop!

The name Depancel is the combination of Delage, Panhard and Facel Vega, three French manufacturers whose cars were instruments made for the pleasure of driving, and a huge inspiration to Clément, the brand's founder and his talented team. Inspired by their philosophy and creative freedom, their newest watch celebrates that in its entirety.

Featuring a 39mm brushed and polished stainless-steel case, the Allure Mono Eye Mint Green sports a trendy neo-vintage silhouette. The finely finished dial stands out with its bright, fresh mint green colour, contrasting nicely against the brushed black metallic surfaces and vintage-themed pressed black leather strap.

Unlike some of the other models, this new addition is designed to be a laidback, cool and carefree visual cocktail perfectly suited for summer use, all while retaining refinement and build quality that far exceeds its price point. At the heart of the watch, the Seiko VK63 meca-quartz movement merges quartz precision with the tactile feel of a true chronograph.

This stylish new addition to Depancel's ever-growing lineup is now available in the CD Shop!
