Affordable Maserati Birdcage...

14 June 2005 | Classic Driver

After careful research taking many hours the Maserati Birdcage Chassis from Autodromo is finally here. From the initial designs to the final production prototype there have been many sleepless nights, and scratching of the head in order to see this Edition produced.

Harriet Addyman of Autodromo said "We hope you will enjoy this model and it provides you with as much contemplation as it has for us. We would like to thank all those involved in the restoration and involvement with Maserati and their invaluable help to us during this project, with special thanks to Jon, Steve and George".

Each chassis is handmade using heat resistant jigs in soldered brass section. It takes over 50 hours of careful soldering to produce each chassis which includes suspension mounts and other components.

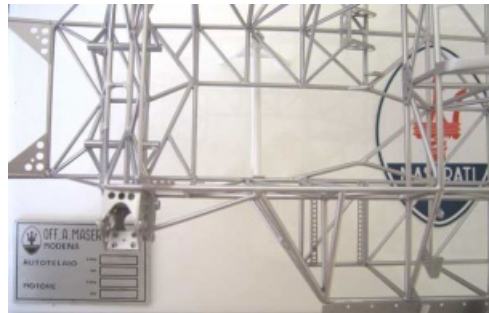

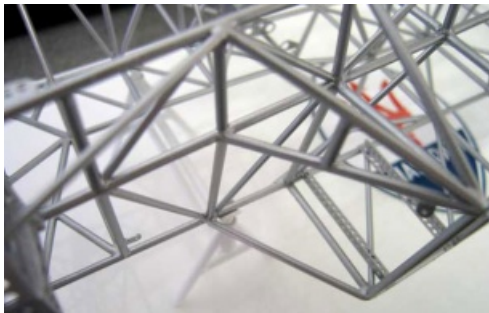

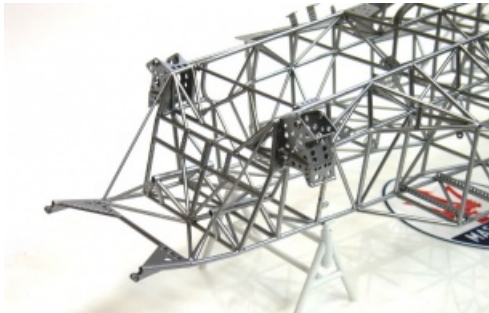

The model Includes a Corian base with an individually numbered chassis plate. A museum-quality display cover and axle stands to display the chassis. The Birdcage chassis will be an edition of only 50 examples worldwide.

The model is about 17 inches in length, with the model base being approximately 19.0 by 8.5 inches.

Unlike their existing Ferrari models, the Birdcage Chassis will only be available direct from Autodromo, at 1,850.00 GBP Sterling plus tax and delivery.

Each model will be made to order only and Autodromo will require a 50% deposit before construction will start - the company hopes to build two or three models per month so delivery should not be more than six to eight weeks - full payment will be required before dispatch.
