
SportDesign for the Porsche Boxster

27 March 2006 | Classic Driver

With the new SportDesign package, Porsche are aiming to give Boxsters a sportier look with echoes of the company's top of the range Carrera GT.

The package includes a front spoiler extension (mounts on standard fitting), an automatically extending, redesigned rear spoiler, and a modified rear undertray with an integrated diffuser.

All of the SportDesign package's components are painted in the vehicle's exterior colour. Porsche is offering the SportDesign package worldwide. In Germany, it can be ordered from Porsche Exclusive for 4,060 Euros (incl. sales tax) on purchase of a new vehicle. For retrofitting, it is available from Porsche Tequipment for 3,422 Euros (incl. sales tax) plus labour.
