

CLASSIC DRIVER

Techart Porsche Panamera

German tuning company Techart will present its development package for the Porsche Panamera at the Geneva salon in March.

First seen at the Frankfurt show, the Techart 'Aerodynamic Kit I' for the Panamera Turbo is now also offered on the S and 4S models. At the front, the aerodynamic package brings a three-part spoiler, minimising lift at the front axle and optimising air-flow for better cooling of the brake assembly. A fixed rear wing and rear diffuser aim to improve stability, while a stainless steel four-tailpipe exhaust system further enhances the rear of the Techart Panamera. There is a choice of 21-inch Techart Formula or even sportier 22-inch Techart Formula II light-alloy wheels.

For the interior, Techart has chosen two-tone leather with decorative stitching and a matching Alcantara roof-lining. An ash veneer with tactile grain adorns the doors, dashboard and centre console.

If you'd like to 'individualise' your Panamera with original design accessories from Techart, take a look at www.techart.de.

Techart will be exhibiting in Hall 2 of the Geneva show from 4-14 March 2010.

Text: Classic Driver

Photos: Techart

ClassicInside - The Classic Driver Newsletter

Free Subscription!

Gallery

Source URL: <https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/techart-porsche-panamera>
© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.