This year the Algarve International Circuit will play host to the third Algarve Historic Festival, featuring more than 320 race cars from the 1930s right up to the 1990s.

The four-day event, held from 20 - 23 October, promises entertainment regardless of your automotive preference. Among the 21 race events are various historic Formula classes, including FIA Formula 1, Formula 2 and 3, as well as Group C and Groups 1, 2 and A Touring Cars. There will also be a round of the Stirling Moss Trophy for pre-1961 sports cars and sports-racers; plus many big names, ex-F1 and otherwise, there in person. These include Maria Teresa de Filippis, Richard Attwood, Tony Brooks, Nanni Galli, Tim Parnell, David Piper, Peter Westbury, Hans-Joachim Stuck, Michael MacDowel, Reine Wisell, Patrick Tambay, Teddy Pilette, Gerald Ashmore, Roberto Moreno, Mário de Araújo Cabral and Pedro Lamy.

Racing won't be the only spectacle in Portugal; members of classic car clubs are invited to park their classic cars in the paddock, and a classic car parade will be held for charity.
