Kings of Grunge: Icon gets dirty

Lead

We know California-based Icon for its high-quality reinterpretations of classic SUVs – almost clinically clean vehicles, durable but with modern technology hidden under their classic looks. But now Icon has a new, darker range of vehicles to unleash...

...one-offs that Icon calls the 'Derelicts'. These are cars that you'd perhaps expect to see at the junkyard, or maybe as a 'Cuba Cruiser' spotted in Havana. They can even be seen as the perfect antidote to "restoring things too far": appearing weatherbeaten and rotten – but technically vital and potent, completely rebuilt from the chassis up.

You'll either get it, or you won't. But do watch the video to make up your mind.
