Registration Number: UK Registered Chassis Number: TBA

Introduced for the 1984 model year, the Porsche 911 Carrera 3.2 replaced the 911 3.0 SC. It shared the same body and chassis with a number of detail improvements. Coupe, Targa and Cabriolet body styles were available as was, for some markets, a 'Super Sport' option, incorporating the wider body of the Turbo and its trademark 'whale tail' spoiler.

The 911 Carrera 3.2 was really a further development of the tried and tested 911 series, now offering an enlarged engine with a power output of some 231bhp. Other than in detail the body remained unchanged from the 911 3.0 SC, while the interior was gradually improved, although over the course of its production life many details were changed and several additional options were offered.

The example on offer here is a 1987 car, finished in black with matching black I
