The Audi marque is synonymous with well built, reliable and high performing road and racing cars both today and in seasons past. It is no surprise then that modern Audis have always been popular with the club racing scene. Raced on hillclimbs and sprints with success during the 2008/9 season and 100% reliable during that time, this superbly prepared (both inside and out) 1991 5-cylinder car offers startling performance and a sound track worthy of the Valkyries.

This little Audi was imported from Germany into the UK in 1999 and subsequently rebuilt as a well-known and successful racing car on hill climbs and sprint racing events, with consistent class wins and good placings. It comes with a wealth of spares, a list of which is included in the car's file along with the necessary
