Manufactured between October 1958 and June 1963, the DB4 developed through no fewer than five series.

The first had already undergone a number of improvements, including the fitting of heavy-duty bumpers after the first 50 cars, before the 2nd series arrived in January 1960. A front-hinged bonnet, bigger brake calipers and an enlarged sump were the major changes made on the Series II, while the 3rd series featured separate rear lights, two bonnet stays and a host of improvements to the interior fittings. The 4th series was readily distinguishable by its new grille, with seven vertical bars, shallower bonnet intake and recessed rear lights, while the final (5th) series manufactured between September 1962 and June 1963 wa
