If a Lamborghini Countach is 18, a Bugatti T35 is 10 and a Ford GT40 is 14, then what is a Cobra? The answer is 42. In each case that is the number of companies which have marketed reproductions of these cars. If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, then the Cobra has been the most flattered car in history. It is not just the staggering performance; nor its pedigree with its Tojeiro designed chassis and Allan Turner's timeless interpretation of the barchetta body; it is the way that the Cobra epitomises a tradition. It harks back to the great sports cars of the 1950s - the Golden Age of sports cars - while embodying the style and optimism of the Swinging Sixties. It is also a marriage between the British and American traditions of sports cars wh
