Patek Philippe will be holding a 10-day exhibition in Munich in October, providing the rare opportunity to take a first-hand look into the long history of the family-run watch manufacturer...

The 'KunstWerkUhr' exhibition sees the Swiss manufacturer open its museum vaults to illustrate not only the story of its 174 years in existence, but also five centuries of horology. KunstWerkUhr will take place from 17-27 October at the Kunsthalle (or 'Art Hall') of the Hypo-Cultural Foundation in Munich – guided tours are available each day
