Description

French title - Low mileage, properly maintained - Very powerful and supremely elegant Black colour with a tan interior, this Ferrari 456 M GT has covered only 49,000 km since new, as evidenced by the maintenance booklet. Equipped with a manual transmission, this is a "M" (modificata) version, which has the same power as the original version with the 5.5-liter V12 - 442bhp - and has several detail improvements. Inside, the equipment and switchgear are in a very neat condition and very complete, while the mechanical aspects are in good condition too, with the firing order changed for a smoother operation and cooling was enhanced by larger air ducts. The M version has the reputation of being a more successful car than the previous model, with excellent reliability if the car had been properly maintained, which has been the case this particular car. This superb car, with sober and elegant Pininfarina lines, was renewing the tradition of a V12 positioned at the front, which allowed creating space for two additional rear seats. The V12 has the reputation of accelerating from 50 to 300 km/h in sixth gear, with a symphony of sound that could captivate even the most jaded.
