Coachwork Touring n°5631

- Well preserved car
- Rare and interesting model
- Touring coachwork

This 2000 Spider by Touring started its life in the United States, before returning to Italy at the end of the 1980s. It then entered a major collection that comprised numerous creations of the coachbuilder Touring, and was carefully maintained. A few years ago the car received new red paintwork that still presents well, with no signs of corrosion and with well-aligned panels that testify to the coachbuilder's skills. Inside, both the black imitation leather seats and the roof are in good condition, and the car retains the original instrumentation. Before the sale, the car will get carpets for the passenger compartment and boot that conform to the original Touring model. It has the original matching numbers engine, and a five-speed gearbox that replaced the original four-speed version, making the car more relaxing to drive.

This model, which followed the Alfa Romeo 1900 designed by Orazio Satta, benefits from elegant Touring coachwork and a level of comfort superior to the Spider Giulietta and Giulia. Less sporty than its sisters, it is more rare (3,443 examples) and much more luxurious, remaining very expensive to restore. Presented in such a wonderful condition, it offers a unique opportunity to drive one of the most successful and elegant Italian cabriolets.
