Spotted in London - classics and supercars spreading their wings

05 June 2015 | Alex Easthope

With the longest day in the UK fast approaching (just where has the first half of this year gone?), it appears owners of classic and modern cars alike are keen to make the most of their machines, come rain or shine...

Regularly driven rarities

Our talented and hugely popular street-snapper Alex Penfold has, as per usual, been out and about on the streets in and around London, capturing the very finest classic and supercars, out in the wild. We particularly love the 'Wolf of Wall Street', driving his Countach in the pouring rain. Bravo.
