
Re-awakening the beast – a new dawn for TVR

03 June 2015 | Alex Easthope

After more than a decade in the wings and numerous pledges of revival, it appears TVR – the loud 'n' proud British marque – is back, with an all-new sports car set to debut in 2017...

Built in collaboration with revered designer Gordon Murray, the new car will allegedly retain the traditional TVR front engine, rear-drive layout, weigh a scant 1,110kg, and draw power from a naturally aspirated Cosworth V8; all of which should please the remaining (and large) contingent of faithful TVR enthusiasts immensely.

Photo: Rexfeatures

<https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/cars/re-awakening-beast-new-dawn-tvr>

© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.