Star Wars Rolexes? Be intrigued, you will...

Lead

With the latest instalment due in cinemas soon, Star Wars has once again become topical. With this in mind, South Korean luxury retailer Boon The Shop has collaborated with the Bamford Watch Department to produce four limited-edition Star Wars Rolexes...

The result of the alliance is four custom Rolex designs – based on either the Submariner or Daytona models – each of which takes inspiration from a particular character in the legendary film franchise. Our choice would be the Kylo Ren Daytona with a red and black dial inspired by the helmet but, whichever you choose, each comes in a customised presentation box. They'll be officially released on 27 November – giving you just enough time to use the Force and procure one in time for the latest film's December premiere.
