

CLASSIC DRIVER

Ferrari's prettiest single-seater is primed for Paris...

Lead

One of the most prominent exhibitors at the Rétromobile extravaganza, London-based Classic Driver dealer Fiskens looks set to cause a similar stir this February. The first of 14 cars the company will display in Paris has been announced as an ex-Works Ferrari single-seater: a 166 / 246 Dino...

Dinger's delight

The stunning ex-Works cigar tube consigned to Fiskens' 14-car stand in Paris is chassis #0010, driven by both Jacky Ickx and Derek Bell during the 1968 and 1969 seasons. Indeed, it was in this very car that 'Dinger' proved himself to Enzo, which led to the Englishman being offered an F1 drive for the Scuderia.

Furthermore, as well as charting a number of pole positions and podium finishes in the European F2 and Tasman racing series during that time... well... just look at it.
