In a flashback to the days when the Dodge Daytona and Plymouth Superbird ruled the high banks of the NASCAR series; you will be hard-pressed to find a more iconic American musclecar than these winged legends. Now you can have the latest version for your very own.

This 2013 Challenger has had a full Daytona conversion performed to transform it into an "amazing piece of Detroit iron." The upgrade includes a revised front end, aluminum hood and integrated pop-up headlights that help this Challenger cut right through the air. Over the rear deck is the NASCAR-inspired rear wing that helps place the prodigious Hemi power to the pavement. Performance is further enhanced by the Super Track Pak option and Sports Suspension System. Inside the cabin is a custom white and red leather interior with a whole host of upgrades.

First among the features is the 5.7-liter, 372-hp Hemi V-8 engine that is paired with a five-speed automatic transmission with sports mode. Further equipment can be found with 20-inch aluminum-clad wheels, Goodyear Eagle F1 performance tires, steering wheel paddle shifters, red piping on the seats, 3.06:1 rear axle ratio, seven-speaker Boston Acoustics stereo system with 368-watt amplifier, 6.5-inch touchscreen display, steering wheel audio controls, remote start system; power sunroof, seats, steering, windows and four-wheel disc brakes.

Executed in a fine manner throughout, this sensational Challenger Daytona has been sparingly driven and also has its window sticker, owner's manual and key fob.
