
'Q' division flies the flags for Aston Martin's 2016 WEC campaign

14 April 2016 | Alex Easthope

Ahead of the FIA World Endurance Championship opener at Silverstone this weekend, Aston Martin's 'Q' division has revealed a series of bespoke wings badges for its V8 Vantage GTEs, inspired by the nine nations in which races will take place this season...

Bespoke

Handcrafted in Birmingham's historic jewellery quarter, each of the enamel wings is inspired by the flags of the nations in which World Endurance Championship races will be held - at Silverstone this weekend, Aston Martin Racing's V8 Vantage GTEs will proudly wear the Union Jack badges, while at Le Mans, for example, they will be adorned by the Tricolour. We have a sneaky suspicion that, should you so wish, the 'Q' personalisation branch would arrange bespoke bonnet jewellery to be created for your Aston, too.

Photos: Aston Martin Racing

<https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/fashion-accessories/q-division-flies-flags-aston-martins-2016-wec-campaign>

© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.