
Celebrate the good life on these handmade Dutch lifeboats

13 August 2016 | Jan Baedeker

These quirky Dutch lifeboats offer all the style and ability of a much bigger yacht, without the vast expense and impracticality...

Waterdream Boats hand-builds these lifeboats in such a way that even in the choppiest of waters, they remain phenomenally fast and incredibly stable. This is predominantly down to the clever hull design, similar to that of a RIB. They're powered by 25HP Yamaha engines and boast high freeboards, ideal for curious children eager to peer over the edge of the boat. There's even an on-board lavatory and a small cabin, making all-day excursions with friends of family possible. So, will it be a cruise in the Solent or a jaunt around Ibiza?

Photos: Waterdream Boats

<https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/yachts/celebrate-good-life-these-handmade-dutch-lifeboats>

© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.