
This armoured Maybach Pullman is ideal for kingpins and criminals alike

23 September 2016 | Alex Easthope

Don't want to risk life and limb while signing that controversial new treaty or entertaining your fellow diplomats? Then Mercedes-Maybach has just the car for you - an armoured version of its opulent Pullman...

Up to no good?

Developed alongside the regular models so as not to compromise interior space and luxury, the S-Class Guard range is spearheaded by the goliath Pullman limousine, which protects its occupants from bullets and explosions thanks to the use of steel plates, extremely strong fabrics and polycarbonate-lined windows. Sure, the car's bulletproof vest comes at a price, both in terms of price (around 1.5m euros) and weight. The latter - around 5,000kg - is offset somewhat by a 530bhp twin-turbo V12, developing a hefty 612 lb-ft of torque. But then you can't put a price on peace of mind and safety - particularly when there's a baying mob of angry protestors blocking your route into work.

Photos: Daimler AG

<https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/cars/armoured-maybach-pullman-ideal-kingpins-and-criminals-alike>

© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.