Leica has given its compact Q camera a 'Titanium Gray' makeover, including a host of thoughtful design tweaks that are bound to please more style-conscious photographers...

A striking balance

A Leica camera is, after all, the preserve of hipster snappers and professional photographers alike. The Leica Q 'Titanium Gray' features a number of modifications including, among other things, a striking two-tone silver/black colour combination, a heavy-duty strap made from a climbing rope-like material, and an upgraded lens to make this nifty camera even more versatile.
