

CLASSIC DRIVER

Every dark Los Angeles cloud has a spectacular silver lining

05 November 2016 | Alex Easthope

Silver Arrow, Silver Spur, Silver Bullet – just what is it about the colour silver that is so synonymous with performance, prestige and luxury? A new exhibition at the Petersen Automotive Museum explores just that, with a sensational array of silver sporting classics...

Silver shade, gold standard

The second iteration of the popular exhibition 'Precious Metal' at the Petersen Automotive Museum in Los Angeles comprises a mouth-watering selection of more sporting silver classics, from the legendary Mercedes-Benz W196 Streamliner to the McLaren F1. While some might deem the shade bland, we happen to think it accentuates a car's shape. And what better way to demonstrate this than to assemble some of the most staggeringly beautiful cars ever created...

Photos: The Petersen Automotive Museum

<https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/cars/every-dark-los-angeles-cloud-has-a-spectacular-silver-lining>

© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.