Lead

As a company famous for pairing outlandish designs with some of the best sounding engines in existence, it was inevitable that certain raging bull enthusiasts would translate this into a very special home audio system...

800 watts, not horsepower

Designed to emulate the rear of the Aventador, the Ixoost Esavox Sound System features carbon-fibre subwoofers, dramatic hexagonal cabinets and the all-important jet fighter-style starter button. Available in black, orange, yellow and red (though disappointingly not in lime green), the Esavox is priced at an appropriately outrageous €19,900.
