Our 10 favourites from Antiquorum's New York sale

Lead

On June 22nd, countless collectors will assemble both on New York's Third Avenue and virtually around the world to bid on an astonishing assortment of top-class timepieces, from big-hitter major manufacturer favourites to bespoke rarities...

Two highlights of the "Important Modern and Vintage Timepieces" sale come in the form of a topical collector's dream and a prestigious platinum piece. A Rolex Daytona 'Paul Newman' in steel and with a fabulously faded tropical dial (estimate 70,000–100,000 US dollars) and a Patek Philippe Minute Repeater with a black dial (est. 250,000–350,000 US dollars) are sure to be met with a rousing reception, but our attention has also been grabbed by the British classic Breitling Cadette Chronograph (est. 2,000–3,000 US dollars), the elegant Omega Triple Calendar Moon Phase (est. 1,200–2,200 US dollars), and, of course, the beautiful and unrepeatable patinated Bakelite bezel Rolex GMT Gilt Tropical Dial (est. 15,000–35,000 US dollars). You can see our top 10 choices below and browse the full catalogue in the Classic Driver Market.
