What's more soul-stirring than the sound of an engine bouncing off the Alps?

05 November 2017 | Lianna Bruhlman

While the birds chirping and the brooks babbling may have been music to Maria von Trapp's ears in 'The Sound of Music', what truly breathes life into the Swiss Alps is the sound of tyre squeals and exhaust backfires — luckily, the Bernina Gran Turismo comes to town once a year to revive the Engadin...
