

CLASSIC DRIVER

Let's get personal with the Lamborghini Urus

Lead

Even before production has begun, the new Lamborghini Urus is stirring up a lot of dust on social media. So, in search of the ultimate Urus, we tried our hands at the online configurator and found that — to us, anyway — the all-terrain animal looks best in this restrained colour combination...

Of course, you can always order a Lamborghini in outlandish orange or matte black — but we found that the new Urus exudes even more Italian elegance when you finish it in classic trim. In this metallic Verde Hebe colour, with the 22-inch Nath rims in a matte titanium finish, black callipers, and a matching shiny black styling package, the super sport SUV would not only look a bella figura on the Via Montenapoleone in Milan but also by the ski lift in Cortina d'Ampezzo or outside a beach bar on the Costa Smeralda. We would also keep the interior super minimal and do without dubious two-colour combinations — fitting dark Alcantara, porous black wood with aluminium inlays, a grippy suede steering wheel, and the 3D sound system from Bang & Olufsen. You can discover more about “our” Lamborghini Urus here.

Gallery

Source URL: <https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/cars/lets-get-personal-lamborghini-urus>
© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.