There are more than just Porsches from RM Sotheby's in the Sunshine State...

08 March 2018 | Lianna Bruhlman

RM Sotheby's has been the purveyor of Porsche pandemonium for the past two years, and its upcoming Amelia Island sale, taking place on 9 March, is perpetuating the trend. But that's not all — there are plenty of other cars on the roster also causing a commotion...

Beyond Porkers

Fanning the flames of the modern Porsche pandemic earlier this year, RM Sotheby's announced the inclusion of an extraordinary collection of 11 limited-production Porsches in its Amelia Island auction. But there's more to the sale than these Stuttgart stunners. Just take the headliner car for example — a gorgeous long-nose, torque-tube 1966 Ferrari 275 GTB (est. 2.2-2.5m US dollars). Another Italian stallion stealing the Porsches' thunder will be the 1961 Maserati 3500 GT Coupé Speciale (550,000-700,000 US dollars), while at the lower end, the 1993 Aston Martin Virage Volante 'Wide Body' (100,000 - 125,000 US dollars) is giving the 964s a run for their money. You can find our 10 highlights from RM Sotheby's Amelia Island auction listed below or, alternatively, browse the entire catalogue in the Classic Driver Market.
