

CLASSIC DRIVER

Omega is doing its bit to save the panda...

Lead

In addition to the menacing Speedmaster Dark Side of the Moon Apollo 8, Omega has just revealed another limited-edition Speedmaster — and it features a classic panda dial...

Limited to 2,998 pieces, the Omega Speedmaster CK 2998 'Panda' is a more elegant interpretation of the classic chronograph, directly inspired by a reference from 1959 — 10 years before the watch sealed itself into the annals of history by becoming the first timepiece to be worn on the moon. It's got a black ceramic bezel, a 39.7mm case, a black perforated leather strap, alpha-shaped hands, and, most notably, a panda-style dial. A wonderful embodiment of Omega's rich DNA, it'll cost 5,850 CHF when it goes on sale later this month.

Photos: Omega

Gallery

Source URL: <https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/watches/omega-doing-its-bit-save-panda>
© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.