Drop-top fun in the sun at Osenat's upcoming Collector Car sale

On 17 June in Fontainebleau, France, Osenat will hold its Collector Car and Motorcycles sale, a wonderful cross-section of which can be found listed in the Classic Driver Market. Having perused the catalogue, these are our favourites...

In addition to a large variety of automobilia (and the sale of a single-owner collection of 54 'sleeping beauties', taking place on 16 June), Osenat will offer around 60 collector cars on Sunday. Of those, our undisputed favourite is the 1954 Lancia Aurelia B20 GT (est. 170,000-200,000 euros). A matching-numbers example with the rare Nardi interior kit, it's a fantastic car for anyone looking to join the Make Lancia Great Again movement.

For those who like their classics slightly younger, the low-mileage 1991 Ferrari 348 TS (60,000-75,000 euros) or the elegant grey-over-burgundy 2004 Aston Martin Vanquish (60,000-80,000 euros) may well fit the bill. And just how well has the Maserati Merak aged? A marque specialist has maintained the red 1975 example Osenat is selling since it received a complete overhaul in 1988. It's expected to fetch 50,000-70,000 euros when it crossed the block on Sunday. You can find our other favourites from the sale in Fontainebleau below or, alternatively, you can view a quality cross-section of the catalogue in the Classic Driver Market.
