Description

Guide price: £20000 - £25000.

- A superb example of the range-topping, 389bhp, V12, SL600
- Meticulously maintained. Only ever been to official Mercedes-Benz main dealerships
- No less than 28 stamps in the book and a warranted mileage of 78,040
- A rare car today. At this mileage and in this condition this sparkling SL600 represents tremendous value for money

From an established lineage of beautiful Mercedes-Benz SLs, the R129 range was introduced in 1989 and continued the company's tradition of fast and reliable 'grand touring' convertibles. Joining the range in 1993 the 600SL was naturally the flagship and featured the company's ultra-smooth, 6.0-litre V12 engine that generated an impressive 389bhp. The SL600 was a fuss-free, fully equipped, luxury sports car that was more expensive, and quicker (!) than the Ferrari 348 of the day.

This particular car is a UK, right-hand drive from new, example that today has covered 78,040 miles. The service history is metronomic every year and the car has only ever been to official Mercedes-Benz main dealerships throughout, with no less than 28 stamps in the book, corroborating the indicated mileage.

The SL600 is a rare car

today, and this sparkling example is in outstanding condition and represents tremendous value for money.
