Description

This Land Rover Series 1 from 1955 is a unique appearance. The car has been running for years in a brick factory in Friesland. The car's brakes must be checked, possibly the main brake cylinder. The current owner has owned the car for 5 years and the car is complete. In addition, the car has been tackled on many points, such as the brake lines that have been renewed, the bodywork that has been modified and the car has been made dent-free. To get a good impression of the car we advise you to come to one of the viewing days.
