This stunning Jaguar E-Type Series 3 V12 was bought from the New York based British Leyland by its first owner on the 30th May 1973. Nearly 25 years later the car was exported to the Netherlands, where since then it has only had a further three owners. One of these is a major collector. We have also been acquainted with this Jaguar for a long time. This E-Type is in excellent working and driving order as well as having the bodywork to match. It has always been excellently maintained, with many invoices in support of this. In 2015 the engine and the associated technology were overhauled. Recently the Jag had a major service carried out by specialist firm. The subframe, rear suspension, brakes and transmission were seen to on this occasion. There are currently no qualms on the mechanical front and so the car is ready to go. The splendid bodywork has correctly fitting body panels and similar lovely chrome decorative strips. The biscuit leather is nice, well kempt and with the right amount of patina. Two years ago the hood and tonneau were replaced, both are currently in an as good as new state. It has automatic transmission, aircon, chrome wire wheels and a vintage-look modern radio. The Jag has retained its original, matching numbers, V12 engine, complete with a Jaguar Heritage certificate. This fantastic Series 3 V12 is ready to be enjoyed right now!
