Description

Delivered new on the 11th October 1996 by H.R. Owen, London to the first of four previous owners One of just 315 right-hand drive manual Spiders finished in Rossa Corsa with a Nero leather interior Patently well cared for, the car has been serviced 22 times and the cambelt changed seven times Serviced and MOTd in August 2019 by JCT600 Ferrari and two new front tyres fitted Showing some 33,000 miles. Presented to auction with two keys, service book, reams of invoices and its leather tool kit The Ferrari F355 Spider captured the imagination of the prosperous driving enthusiast of the 1990's and some 3,714 were delivered to the global market and, of these, just 315 were right-hand drive with a manual gearbox. This right-hand drive, manual Spider was delivered in Rosso Corsa with a Nero leather interior by H.R. Owen, London on October the 11th to the first of four previous owners. The current owner, our vendor, bought the car in June last year. A lifelong Porsche enthusiast he had always wanted a Ferrari and the car joined a substantial stable. With business commitments keeping our vendor busy the Cavallino Rampante has only been sparingly exercised, covering less than a hundred miles. As a discerning enthusiast and wanting to pass the car on in fine fettle, our vendor has recently serviced the car and shod the front with two brand new tyres, adding to the impeccable maintenance record kept by the previous custodians: 11/10/1996 H.R.
