The F12 Berlinetta is undoubtedly the ultimate front-engined, rear-wheel drive Grand Tourer from Ferrari. The F12 Berlinetta is the ultimate front-engined, rear-wheel drive Grand Tourer from Ferrari and made its debut at the 2012 Geneva show. The car features one of the last naturally-aspirated, V12 engines of 6,300cc which produces 740PS with a mind-boggling 690 N.m of torque resulting in 0-62mph in just 3.1 seconds and a top speed of 211mph. To say that this car is quick is a master of understatement, in fact, not only is it quick, but the handling allowed the car to go round the factory test track at Fiorano a second faster than a 599 GTO, 2 seconds faster than an Enzo (!) and three seconds faster than a 430 Scuderia! In short, it is an extraordinary motorcar, even more so when you consider its ability to carry two people.

in comfort as well as copious luggage space in the large boot. This particular UK right-hand drive car was supplied new by H.R.Owen, Brompton Road, London on the 13th October 2014 to a Mr Vicini, the car's only ever owner. It was finished in the timeless Ferrari combination of Rosso Corsa with tan hide leather upholstery and Bordeaux carpets. The factory fitted options added up to over 47,000 in total value and the list is simply too long to include here, however, full details (including prices) are available from our office and are also contained in the history file which will be with our document office at the sale. The car has been serviced since then on time and with official Ferrari service centres including at 2,000 miles on the 14th October 2015, at 4,000 miles on the 14th October 2016, at 7,500 miles on 10th October 2017 and most recently on the 18th April 2019 at 9,070 miles, which is more or less the mileage today. A special car costing in excess of 290,000 when new, finished in a classic colour combination and above all, now priced very realistically to sell today. The appropriate registration number 'F12 JLV' is included with this lot.
