Even in difficult times, the joy of collecting shouldn't be spoiled. At Schuler Auctions' upcoming sale, taking place 23-27 March, countless fascinating rarities will still go under the hammer...

Schuler's collector auctions in Zurich are legendary. Taking place 23-27 March, the next auction has moved from a physical auction room in the Swiss city to a digital one, accessible all over the world, due to the coronavirus pandemic. So you can still bid online, by phone or via written absentee on any object of your desire and then have it delivered to your door. The catalogue contains more than 3,000 treasures, including works of art, antiques, design classics, watches, jewellery and wines, and can be viewed here.
